Overview

NEW YORK, NY – Today the New York City Department of Consumer and Worker Protection (DCWP) announced the filing of a landmark lawsuit against Radiant Solar, a solar panel installation company that defrauded New Yorkers seeking a source of affordable renewable energy for their homes. The rising popularity of residential solar panels has also cracked the door open for fraud. Lawyers say the companies work in tandem to target seniors and low-income residents with misleading advertising and miscalculations of cost. Hundreds of these cases are already in arbitration, moving through discovery and scheduling. This fall will be extremely busy, with trials set. A class action accuses Experian of including false information on consumer reports about loans associated with Pink Energy's alleged solar panel scam.
